G.S.D.C. OF CENTRAL OHIO, INC. MEMBERSHIP MEETING
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 2013

The meeting was called to order at the Ganyard Building, Franklin County fairgrounds at 7:35 p.m. by vice-president, Jon White. There were thirteen members present.

Minutes of the previous meeting were published in the newsletter. John Ayotte moved the reading of the minutes be dispensed with, seconded by Charlotte LaRosa. Motion passed.

Treasurer's Report: Sue Clark gave the report. The books were audited and found in good shape. The club realized a profit for the period and for the year. Myrna Cook moved the report be approved, seconded by Kathi Jo Zornes. The motion carried.

Secretary's Report: Online application for our 2014 shows was done on August 20. Parent Club approval was requested and confirmed. Membership rosters were e-mailed to A.K.C. Show Plans and Club Relations in spreadsheet format requested. Due to small entry this year, there is no fee for second show. There was a charge of $25 for first show (possibly will be credited). Secretary mailed $75 to Sue Clark to return to treasury as it was not used. As requested, Dottie Bowman was sent e-mail information regarding our judging panel. A letter was sent to Ed Barritt requesting he purchase his ticket, and he called to let us know he will buy his ticket. Our judges are approved and shows pending at this time. Information of officers and committees will be mailed to A.K.C. along with Statement Of Compliance after election.

Meeting and election notice was sent to all members. No one responded to add any candidates.

Correspondence was received from Royal Canin dog food proposing they have a booth at our shows. We did not feel it would be profitable for them with Futurity being held in Cincinnati on Monday.

Training: Annette Severance reported that there has been a poor turnout for training. There are currently four in the class. She gave them the option of canceling or doing some rally training, and they decided on training based on rally. She also reported that the combination to the Ganyard Building was changed, but she has a key that works on the other door. She noted that holding puppy classes and advanced training boosted the beginner obedience classes, but we do not have anyone to instruct those classes. Also there are training classes conducted at PetSmart and others that we are competing with. Sue Clark said she feels that Tim Shade might give us a break on building rental if she explains how small the class is. Even though numbers are disappointing, this is an outreach to the public.

Newsletter: Kathi Jo Zornes stated the next issue will be done in December. She submitted newsletter copies to the Parent Club newsletter competition.

Membership: Marcy Wright reported that she sent an application to Randall Winegardner (attended August meeting). He has not followed up.

Election Of Officers and Board: Rosemary Booth presented the slate as published. There were no nominations from the floor. Charlotte LaRosa moved the officers and board be elected by acclamation, seconded by Myrna Cook. The motion passed. Elected were:

President: John Ayotte

Vice-President: Jon B. White

Treasurer: Sue Clark

Secretary: Rosemary Booth

Board: Teri Ayotte, Roy Clark, Charlotte LaRosa, Marcy Wright, and Kathi Jo Zornes

A card was signed by everyone at the meeting and presented to Myrna Cook. She is moving to Indiana.

John Ayotte assumed his office, and asked if board would consider holding meeting on Saturday, October 12. Streaming video of Best Of Breed is available on that day, and board could mix business with pleasure. It is a by week for Ohio State. Board agreed to meet at John Ayotte's provided streaming video can be arranged. Marcy Wright reported she will not be able to attend.

Annette Severance moved the meeting adjourn. The meeting adjourned at 8:15 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,
Rosemary Booth, Secretary

DOGS AND THE HOLIDAYS

Find the starting place in each bone to spell words or phrases of things that can be dangerous or frightening to your dog during the holiday season. Write the word in the middle of the bone. The words can go either clockwise or counterclockwise. One is done for you.

The holidays are a fun time for everyone. But loud noises and crowds may frighten your dog. Your family may want to keep your dog in a crate or safely in another room while you entertain guests.

People food can make your dog sick, so be sure not to give your dog table scraps. Also, certain foods can be deadly to your dog, such as chocolate or turkey and chicken bones.

Holly and mistletoe are poisonous to dogs. Keep them out of your dog's reach. Poinsettia plants can cause stomach upset and tinsel, if swallowed, can also harm your dog.

Keep burning candles on high tables or mantels, out of the way of your dog's wagging tail.

Answers: 1. chocolate 2. loud noises 3. tinsel
4. mistletoe 5. turkey bones 6. candles 7. crowds

Remembering Our Canine War Heroes

By Christi McDonald

Posted in: Right Now!

On this Veterans Day, it's fitting that we remember those who have served to defend and protect our country, both human and canine. More than 2,000 military working dogs are currently deployed around the world, working for the United States Department of Defense as sentries, scouts and explosives detectors to help safeguard American military bases and soldiers.

More than 600 "soldier dogs" have served alongside the men and women in the United States armed forces in the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, and author Maria Goodavage gave readers an unprecedented view of these heroes in her book, "Soldier Dogs: The Untold Story of America's Canine Heroes", published earlier this year. But we must also recognize the courageous soldiers that came before these.

Dogs were used in warfare as early as the first century BC, when armies defending the Roman Empire included canine forces. Mastiffs were used by Britain against Caesar's invading armies in 54 and 55 BC.

In more contemporary times, Germany made the greatest use of dogs as part of its armed forces. It has been estimated that during World War I the Germans trained and utilized hundreds of thousands of military and police dogs. Many dogs were used in Europe during World War I in conjunction with the medics in the field, to carry bandages and other supplies to wounded soldiers.

The United States didn't begin to deploy dogs in the military until after the bombing of Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. And when dogs did become part of the U.S. armed forces, the program actually started outside of the military complex.

In January of 1942, shortly after the U.S. entered World War II, a new group formed that called itself "Dogs for Defense" to encourage Americans to donate dogs to the U.S. Army Quartermaster Corps to become part of the nation's defense. Among the leaders of this movement was Mrs. Milton (Arlene) Erlanger of the Pillicoc Kennel, who bred Standard and Miniature Poodles. Mrs. Erlanger enlisted the help of Arthur Kilbon, a reporter for the New York Sun, as well as her handler and kennel manager, Henry Stoecker. Mrs. Erlanger didn't want the organization to seem exclusive to Poodles, so she and Stoecker sought support from the Professional Handlers Association, then headed by Len Brumby, as well as obedience clubs around the U.S. Funding for Dogs for Defense initially came from member clubs of the American Kennel Club and from individual fanciers around the country.

When the United States entered World War II, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his administration encouraged American citizens to make personal sacrifices for the war effort and to make donations whenever possible. Citizens on the home front got involved by conducting war bond drives, rationing the use of gasoline, sugar, tires, nylon and other products, planting "Victory Gardens" to help bolster the public food supply, and volunteering for the Red Cross and the USO. Donating to Dogs for Defense was another way that citizens were encouraged to give what they had in support of the country.

Dogs for Defense began as an agency designed to procure and train dogs to serve in the Army, Navy and Coast Guard. Within the first several months, it became clear that a standard method of training, as well as established training centers, would be the most efficient way to properly train the dogs, as well as their handlers in the armed forces. Eventually the Army took over training, while the focus of Dogs for Defense remained procurement. By the end of 1942, the Army had established a standard for the training of dogs and handlers.

At first no specific breeds were required; dogs that were between the ages of 1 and 5 years that were healthy and had "the characteristics of a watch dog" were accepted. Before long, however, an official list of breeds that were classified as acceptable "war dogs" was created, the first of which included 21 breeds: Airedales, Belgian Sheepdogs, Bouviers, Boxers, Briards, Bullmastiffs, Chesapeake Bay Retrievers, Collies, Curly Coated Retrievers, Dalmatians, Doberman Pinschers, German Shorthaired Pointers, Flat Coated Retrievers, German Shepherds, Giant Schnauzers, Irish Water

Spaniels, Labrador Retrievers, Norwegian Elkhounds, Rottweilers, Standard Poodles and Wirehaired Pointing Griffons, along with any cross of these breeds.

Two bronze statues were dedicated in 2000 after installation at March Field Air Museum in Riverside, Calif., and at the National Infantry Museum in Ft. Benning, Ga. The inscriptions read: "They protected us on the field of battle. They watch over our eternal rest. We are grateful."

By 1944 the number of breeds used had been reduced to seven: German Shepherds, Belgian Sheepdogs, Dobermans, Collies, Siberian Huskies, Alaskan Malamutes and what were called "Eskimo dogs." The U.S. Marine Corp adopted the Doberman Pinscher as its official breed and worked closely with the Doberman Pinscher Club of America in procuring dogs. Today the Belgian Malinois is among the most sought-after dogs for use in the military.

Dogs were trained and used as sentries, messengers, scouts and for mine and explosives detection. In addition to these duties, in the jungles of the Pacific theater during World War II, the keen sense of smell dogs possess was utilized to alert handlers to ambushes by the enemy in dense undergrowth, to search for wounded soldiers and to find airmen shot down over the jungles. Dogs were often known to drag wounded soldiers to safety.

Dedicated on June 10, 2006, the U.S. War Dogs Memorial, located at the New Jersey Vietnam Veterans' Memorial in Holmdel, N.J., is a bronze statue of a kneeling Vietnam War soldier and his dog, set on a black granite base. The memorial was designed by sculptor Bruce Lindsay and honors all the nation's war dogs and their handlers – past, present and future.

Since World War II, dogs have been used extensively in the military and in every conflict in which the U.S. has been engaged. In the Korean and Vietnam wars, the U.S. War Dogs Association estimates that military dogs and their handlers saved more than 10,000 lives. It is further estimated that as many as 4,900 dogs were used in Vietnam between 1964 and 1975. John Kubisz, D.V.M., a veterinarian who served in the 764th Veterinary detachment in Vietnam, said this: "There'd be a lot more than 50,000 names on the Vietnam Wall without these dogs, and I don't think the average American even knows the role they played."

One great black mark remains on the service these canine soldiers gave our country. When the Vietnam War ended, the U.S. did not have a system in place to return the dogs to the United States. Many were euthanized; others were turned over to the South Vietnamese Army. For many years afterward, dogs that became too old to serve – over the age of 10 – were euthanized. But under a law passed in 2000, retired military dogs are now allowed to be adopted by their current or former handlers, law enforcement agencies or citizens who pass a screening and are deemed capable of caring for them. Military working dogs can now live out their days with families who treasure and respect them for their years of service to our nation.

In 1967 the United States Air Force created a formal patrol dog training program, which has since evolved into the Lackland Training Detachment. Virtually all military working dog training for the U.S. Armed Forces today takes place at Lackland. In recent years, dogs have continued to serve in Desert Storm, Afghanistan and Iraq, and in fact military working dogs accompanied SEAL Team Six on the mission to find and kill Osama Bin Laden in May 2011.

In recent years, many war dog memorials have been created all over the United States, attesting to the appreciation of the country's citizens for these brave and dedicated canine soldiers.

In 2000 the first official War Dog Memorial was dedicated at March Field Air Museum in Riverside, Calif., while an identical memorial was unveiled at the National Infantry Museum in Ft. Benning, Ga. The bronze statues are of a GI in combat gear with a German Shepherd at his side. The inscriptions read: "They protected us on the field of battle. They watch over our eternal rest. We are grateful."

AKC NEWS - The AKC Offers Tips for a Safe Holiday Season With Your Dog

(Monday, December 02, 2013)

New York, NY – Nothing tops a holiday wish list more than an adorable puppy – but with the hustle and bustle of the season, the family pet can get lost in the shuffle. The American Kennel Club (AKC®) reminds those considering adding a dog to their home this holiday season that puppies are not stocking stuffers and also offers safety tips for current dog owners.

“So many people want a cute, cuddly puppy for the holidays, but there are many hazards associated with this season for dogs,” said AKC Spokesperson Lisa Peterson. “With all of the time and attention he needs, on top of holiday safety risks in the home, it’s much safer and wiser to bring a puppy into your life after the holidays have ended.”

During their critical first weeks at home, puppies require a great deal of time, love, and attention. The disrupted schedules and stress that the holidays can bring, along with the many holiday hazards that can harm even adult dogs, are even more dangerous for a new puppy in an unfamiliar setting.

A dog is also a commitment, and you should never surprise a loved-one with a puppy they aren’t ready to keep for a lifetime. New dog owners need to consider what breed is right for their lifestyle before getting a dog because each one has a unique energy, size, coat type, and temperament.

Consider wrapping dog supplies such as a leash or bowl to symbolize the gift of a puppy to come once you’ve done your research and think things through.

With the holidays rapidly approaching, the AKC offers the following tips for dog owners to keep their four-legged family members happy and safe this season:

- Holiday Dangers Facing Dogs & Puppies -

- When decorating for the holidays, avoid using food such as popcorn or cranberry strands. If eaten, they can cause blockages, which can require surgery to remove. Puppies are notorious chewers when young and will look to get anything they can.
- Place ornaments, tinsel, glass bulbs, and things that sparkle and catch your dog’s eye higher up on your tree where he can’t reach them. Ingesting ornaments can cause major problems for your dog or puppy.
- Poinsettias, holly, and mistletoe should be kept out of your dog’s reach, as they can be poisonous to pets.
- Consider having an artificial Christmas tree, but if you do have a natural one, make sure your dog doesn’t swallow the pine needles or drink the tree water which can cause stomach irritation, or contain poisonous plant food. Try putting a gate around the tree to keep the puppy away.
- Puppies like to chew and explore, and exposed wires from holiday lights pose a threat to your inquisitive little friend– if he chews on them, he could be electrocuted. Tape indoor wires to the wall and outdoor wires to the side of the house where your dog can’t reach them.

Watch out for Winter Hazards!

Responsible Dog Owners know that winter brings special concerns for safety. Help Bailey find her way to a warm, safe place for winter.

Start!

Frozen lakes, ponds, and rivers can be dangerous: Never allow your dog to play on them.

HOME

Dogs need a warm, dry place for winter.

END

Even in winter, dogs need plenty of fresh water. Snow and ice are not substitutes for clean fresh water!

Warning:
Anti-freeze is good for cars, but poisonous to dogs!
