Guidelines is the official quarterly publication of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Central Ohio, Inc.

The object of this club is to urge members and breeders to accept the standard of the breed as put forth by The German Shepherd Dog Club of America, Inc. and the American Kennel Club as the only standard of excellent by which the German Shepherd Dog is bred and judged. We are to do all in our power to protect and advance the interests of the breed and to educate the public by example with these interests in mind. No public advertising is accepted from any source in this publication. Litter announcements are offered as a free service for club members in good standing. Bragg! is a section of our newsletter for members of the club to tell of their accomplishments with their GSDs. Fellow club members, this is your newsletter.

Please help me make it educational and informative for our membership with submissions and suggestions! Material submitted is subject to copyright laws if not a member's own work. The cut-off submission dates per quarter are the first full week of the month the newsletter is scheduled to be released (March, June, September, and December). Any material submitted after the cut-off time will be put in the next quarterly newsletter. Thank you for your cooperation. In this Summer edition you'll find lots of good stuff-a complete marked catalog from our 2014 AKC Specialty Shows showing all dogs entered [plus placements], educational material, the 2014 GSDCA Nationals dates, and lots more!

Please be mindful of your GSDs during these warmer summer months!

DON'T LEAVE YOUR DOG IN A HOT CAR!

When it's only 80 degrees outside, a car can heat up to more than 120 degrees in just minutes. In that kind of heat, a dog could easily die. That's why the American Kennel Club recommends that dog owners never leave their dog alone in a car during warm weather.

For additional tips on canine summer care, request AKC's Canine Summer Safety Tips by contacting Customer Service at (919) 233-9767 or orderdesk@akc.org.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16, 2014

The meeting was called to order at Iacono's Restaurant at 7:35 p.m. by president John Ayotte. There were nine members and one guest present. Minutes of the March meeting were read. Teri Ayotte moved the minutes be accepted as read, seconded by Sue Clark. The motion passed.

Treasurer's Report: Sue Clark reported that the club shows a loss for the period with expenses and no income. Rosemary Booth moved the report be accepted, seconded by Joe LaRosa. The motion carried.

Secretary's Report: A group e-mail with our show premium PDF was sent on March 24. Corrections were of e-mail addresses were made and noted. E-mail was sent as blind carbon copy.

An e-mail was sent to Carolyn Farmer asking suggestions for training. No reply was received.

Show: Rosemary Booth gave Kathi Jo Zornes' report by proxy. Medallions were received from The GSDC Of America. Premiums were created and sent by e-mail and post. Kathi Jo has responded to all requests regarding premium list. She requests detailed trophy information from Teri Ayotte for the catalog. Judges' books have been ordered. As expected, no entries have been received.

Food: Sue Clark called Rita to ask if she would be interested in serving food at the show, and Rita has agreed. She will not provide food but will take care of the concession. Sue will get water, pop, and buns and will bring the coffee pot. Sue will make her barbecue pork. Rosemary Booth volunteered to provide shredded chicken for sandwiches. We'll need doughnuts for morning. Sue will order ribbons May 1.

Rosemary Booth circulated a signup sheet for trophy donations and collected money. Janet Grubb had already pledged a trophy. Follow-up calls will be made for trophy donations.

Newsletter: Deadline is June 7. That will allow publication of show results. Kathi Jo requests people send brags for newsletter.

Unfinished Business: Marcy Wright gave a follow-up on educational program by her veterinarian. The program is "Age Is Not A Disease" and will be held Wednesday, August 20, at the clinic. We will provide refreshments.

New Business: Sue Clark reported that Bill Kirwin's obituary requested donations be made in his and Bobbie's memory to the Capital Area Humane Society. Rosemary Booth moved the club donate $25, seconded by Teri Ayotte. The motion carried.

Rosemary Booth asked about inserting a dedication page in memory of Ollie Conti and Bill and Bobbie Kirwin in our catalog. Charlotte LaRosa suggested that Rosemary write the dedication.

Marcy Wright brought a sample Walkies Mug limited edition for consideration as trophies for COKC 2014 fall show. The mugs fall within our price range for supported entries. She called to confirm that there are four available.

Charlotte LaRosa moved the meeting adjourn. The meeting adjourned at 8:10 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,
Rosemary Booth, Secretary

GSDC OF CENTRAL OHIO, INC. BOARD HIGHLIGHTS
WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 2014

The meeting was held at Iacono's Restaurant, Hilliard. All board members were in attendance.

Secretary's Report: Trophy information was sent to Vicki Jordan of Central Ohio Kennel Club for our supported entry for the November show. Point schedule for our region and the emergency/disaster plan was forwarded to Kathi Jo Zornes.

Treasurer's Report: Sue Clark reported the club shows a loss for the period. Check was received from the GSDC Of Greater Cincinnati to pay for their share of ad and premium mailing. We also received a check from COKC for our supported entry at their April show.

Show: Kathi Jo Zornes reported catalog copy for printing and judges' books were provided to Sue. Rosemary Booth was asked to e-mail entry confirmations as she has the mail data for exhibitors. The list of donors and prizes are listed for the catalog. Teri Ayotte will bring doughnuts, Sue Clark is bringing barbecue pork and Rosemary is bringing shredded chicken for sandwiches. Joe LaRosa will pick up chips. A large cooler is needed for ice. Rita Bender will man the concession. John Ayotte plans ring setup Saturday, May 24, about 4:00 p.m. Rayners will be driving in Saturday and do not wish to go out in the evening. They would like to go to dinner on Sunday after completion of show. Joe LaRosa will pick up Ed Barritt at the airport and take him to dinner Saturday evening.

Plans for a June picnic were discussed. Date will be regular meeting night of June 18. Since it is easily accessible for members and does not require payment for reservation, decision was made to hold picnic at Weaver Park next to the Franklin County fairgrounds. Club will provide sandwiches and drinks, and members are to bring side dish or dessert and their table setting.

Rosemary Booth raised the question of holding a Canine Good Citizen Test/ Therapy Dog Institute certification at some point. Those qualify as compliance items for AKC.

Our club is holding an educational program on August 20 at Marcy Wright's vet's clinic. Subject will be "Age Is Not A Disease." This should be of interest to anyone who owns and loves a dog.

Respectfully Submitted,

BRAGS!!

One of our Junior members, Allison Zornes, 17, received a certificate from the UKC for being one of the TOP 2013 UKC Nationals Novice Senior Competitors. She was sent a personal invitation with her certificate to the UKC 21st Annual Premiere taking place June 13-15, 2014 held in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Allison Zornes and her 13 month old bi-color male German Shepherd Kenshin's Cadmar vom Richthofen "Cadmar" earned his therapy dog certification, AKC Canine Good Citizen and AKC Community Canine titles under the testing of Cathy Weil of TimberCreek Acres in northern Cincinnati Friday, May 9, 2014 at 13 months of age. Cadmar is a Romulus vom Richthofen CGC DNA OFA-C son out of Mina vom Richthofen, bred by Kathi Jo Zornes. Cadmar will begin his therapy dog community service later this summer.

The following week-end Allison took her Cadmar and showed him in the Mason-Dixon Multi-Breed Dog Association's 2 UKC Conformation Shows Saturday, May 17 in Dayton, Ohio, winning Best Junior Male and Best Male in his class in both shows, earning him half of his needed points towards his UKC Champion title under Kathy Schwartzenberger and Julie-Hatlas-Pepper.

And to have the month end on a superb note, Allison did AKC Rally competition and AKC conformation with her Cadmar, gaining 2/3 legs towards their Rally Novice title at the GSDC of Greater Cincinnati Friday and Saturday May 23 & 24, winning 2nd place in her class both days. They also took 1st place in the Bred By Exhibitor Class both conformation shows under Judges Helen Gleason and Peggy Kurz at the GSDC of Greater Cincinnati's 2 AKC Conformation Shows Sat, May 24th and felt like they learned a great deal in their positive experience debuting in the AKC GSD Conformation ring. They are entered to earn their RN title leg Friday July 11 in Dayton's AKC Rally/OB trials.

Under the new AKC Therapy Dog title additions, Editor Kathi Jo Zornes has earned the THDN, THDA and THDX titles on her multi-titled therapy dog Colonel Charles Beckwith. These additions make 9 titles held currently by Kathi Jo's 4 1/2yr old rescue and GSD puppy socializer. Beck also has been nominated for his third year in the 2014 AKC Nationals Award of Canine Excellence for his therapy dog work in his community. Beck was also given public recognition by Ohio State Representative Terry Johnson at his campaign kick-off at Tracy Park in Portsmouth, Ohio May 8, 2014. From the podium Johnson recognized Beck as "the most famous dog in Scioto County."

Preventives and Improved Treatment Haven't Stopped Heartworm Spread

By Susan Chaney

You'd think that years of research, the availability of easy-to-administer preventives and better, safer treatment would help put a damper on the spread of heartworm disease in dogs. They haven't.

Today danger is in virtually every corner of the United States and more mosquito species can pass the disease from animal to animal – including dogs.

Dogs cannot give heartworm to other dogs. It takes the bite of a mosquito, like this Aedes triseriatus to pass the tiny larvae that grow into worms. About 200 species of mosquito live in the United States.

It's something akin to our problem with antibiotics. They've been over-prescribed by some physicians and abused by people who do and don't need them because they don't take the full prescription when they start to feel better. And, thus, bugs evolve or develop that are stronger, more resilient and can withstand the infiltration of the pharmaceutical industry's best drugs.

We have heartworm preventives available for our dogs, as chewable tablets, injectables and spot-ons, but most of us don't use them.

The New York Daily News reported in mid-March that Floridians should prepare for an invasion of Gallinipper mosquitoes, or Psorophora ciliata, calling the half-inch long insects "notoriously aggressive." While "invasion" isn't quite the right word because the mosquitoes have lived in Florida for a long time, the warning is that there likely will be many more this summer than in previous years.

What do mosquitoes have to do with heartworm in our dogs, you might ask? Everything. Absolutely everything. Even mosquito species that don't carry diseases, such as West Nile virus and malaria, can transmit heartworm to dogs.

A dog with circulating heartworm larvae, or even with fully developed adult heartworms, cannot pass the heart-destroying parasites directly to another dog or other mammal. It takes a mosquito to do that. So, the more mosquitoes that live around our dogs and the longer they can be active throughout the year, the better the chance that a heartworm-carrying mosquito will bite your dog. And if your dog – or any dog – is infected, but isn't diagnosed, and a heartworm-free mosquito bites it, that mosquito will become a carrier of heartworms too.

In wetter years, we have more mosquitoes. In dry years, fewer. But that's not the only variable. In fact, Wallace Graham, D.V.M., president of the American Heartworm Society, says, "I think what affects the spread of heartworm more than just about anything is the mobility of our society and the mobility of our dogs. For example, heartworm-infected dogs from New Orleans were transported all over North America after Hurricane Katrina." Although Graham is not an internist, nor a parasitologist, he has a special interest in heartworm disease. His veterinary practice is in southern Texas on the coast, and that's long been a hotbed of heartworm activity, along with the rest of the Gulf Coast and the Atlantic Coast. "We have lots of mosquitoes and lots of heartworm," he says.

Mosquitoes must feed on the blood of an animal, including us, to survive. And we have no shortage of the pesky –and sometimes dangerous – bugs in the U.S. The American Mosquito Control Association says about 200 species call the U.S. home. While not all can transmit the diseases we fear for ourselves, such as West Nile virus and malaria, even the Gallinipper, which transmits none of them, can still serve as what is called a "vector" for heartworms, carrying around the microfilariae, kind of like eggs, that become long, spaghetti-like worms – over time – inside your dog.

Summer evenings, when you may enjoy summertime evening walks with your dogs by your side, are prime feeding time for mosquitoes. Prevention Is Easy, Yet Neglected

It's easy to prevent heartworm from invading one of your dogs' most precious organs – yes, the heart, as the parasite's name implies. Start it on a preventive as a puppy, and give it each and every month for the rest of its life. For most of us, however, that's more easily said than done. We miss a month or two, maybe in the summertime, and we can't be absolutely sure that Duke or Daisy hasn't been bitten by a mosquito in the interim. So now we need to have the dog tested before we can put it back on the preventive. And heartworm tests aren't inexpensive. Depending on where you live, one can cost from about $50 to more than $100. When you find out your dog is negative for heartworm – hopefully – you can start her on a preventive. Everything's hunky dory, until you forget again.

Then, another test. "Testing after a lapse in preventive administration usually occurs as soon as the lapse is discovered and again about six months later, since it takes about six months from the time the mosquito infects the dog until the test can detect the infection," Graham explains. The reason testing is important is that a female heartworm can continue to lay larvae, Graham says, even after a dog receives the preventive. Different chemicals are needed to prevent and treat heartworms. "It's incredibly important that we don't give heartworm-positive dogs preventive without following through with the treatment," he says. The American Heartworm Society recommends annual testing of dogs even if they are on a preventive.

Why aren't we consistent in administering the preventive?

A number of things get in the way. For one, human nature. We forget. We run out. We have a work or kennel or family crisis that comes before everything else. Or, we just dislike the idea of putting something potentially toxic into our dogs when we don't see any evidence among our dog-owing friends and colleagues that it's necessary.

Graham understands the hesitance, but says, despite the fact that he likes to practice "without drugs as much as I can, but I use pharmaceuticals in my practice every day. From a philosophic point of view, I'm sympathetic with that opinion. However, with as mobile as dogs are and as tenacious as mosquitoes are, I am just strongly of the opinion that you just can't take a chance with a disease as serious as that.

"Millions and millions and millions of doses of this stuff have been administered, and the incidence of reactions we don't like is so tiny. It's hard to justify not giving it. The drugs have proven to be so incredibly safe. No drug is 100 percent safe, but these things have had such an incredible safety record for such a long time. The disease is awful. In my opinion, it's really hard to justify not doing it."

In addition, the need for heartworm prevention is not as ingrained in dog owners' minds as flea and tick prevention is. Fleas and ticks are obvious on a dog, at least after a certain point. A dog infected with heartworm can go for months, even longer, yet have no disease symptoms, or clinical signs as veterinarians call them. Coughing, the inability to exercise normally and abnormal lung sounds can be signs of moderate heartworm disease.

Diagnosis and Treatment Make Strides

One positive development in the diagnosis of heartworm infection is that many veterinary clinics now have digital X-ray machines. "It makes the characteristic changes to the heart and lungs easier to see," Graham says. When a heartworm test comes back positive, the American Heartworm Society recommends a second test – of a different kind – to ensure the first wasn't a false positive. If the second test is also positive, the private practice veterinarian can take a chest X-ray, then analyze it for "evidence of change in the shape of the heart and the arteries that serve the lungs."

Treating a dog for heartworm is "not something you want to do unless you're certain you need to do it," Graham says. However, when a dog does need treatment, it's not nearly as likely to result in death as it was a decade ago.

"The drug that we use [an organic arsenic compound, Melarsomine dihydrochloride] is a better drug than we had 10 or 15 years ago. The addition of doxycycline has made a big change in the number of post-treatment complications that we have. I see far, far fewer significant problems with the dogs that I treat now." The major complication from treatment is the lodging of dead worms in the dog's pulmonary arteries. "Doxycycline kills a bacterium that benefits the heartworm. So heartworms lose weight, and there's not so much mass when they die," Graham explains. "The smaller the biomass, the fewer complications." Research done in the last four or five years has allowed the American Heartworm Society to strongly recommend the use of doxycycline. "We don't make any recommendation that we can't back up with good, published research," he says.

All standing bodies of water, whether lakes or simple low areas in a backyard, can be mosquito breeding grounds.

In addition, the timing of treatment has changed as researchers have learned more about the life cycle of heartworms. "Once the mosquito infects the dog, we can kill those larvae for a month or so," Graham says. An anthelmintic is used – some of the same chemicals used in preventives. The drugs used to treat heartworm, however, cannot kill "middle-aged" worms. So, the initial part of the treatment is to kill larvae, then the next part of the treatment kills fully developed adult worms.

Diagnostics and treatment may soon take more leaps forward.

"Since our current tests detect only adult female heartworms, there's a great deal of interest in developing tests that detect male heartworms," Graham says. "Hopefully someday we'll be able to detect those too."

Although no new molecules that might allow development of a new preventive have been discovered, "I would just bet that someone is looking for a new molecule. It would be good if someone could discover one that would perform as well or better than what we have."

Numerous papers detailing research into this pervasive parasite will be presented at the triennial American Heartworm Society Symposium in September in New Orleans. "We'll have people from South America, Europe and Japan," Graham says. "There's going to be some cutting-edge research presented, some of it centered around how certain conditions in dogs may affect the tests" for heartworm.
